

Westerly Fire Wagon Damaged

The fire wagon which was wrecked last night by the fire which destroyed the building on the corner of Main and Broad streets, was damaged beyond repair. The wagon was a 1900 model and was in good condition when it was wrecked. It was used by the fire department for many years and was a valuable asset to the department. The damage was done to the front end of the wagon and the engine. The wagon was towed to the fire station and is being repaired. It is expected that it will be ready to use again in a few days.

Experiences of District Nurse Association Explained to Mystic Visitors—Council Files Exceptions in Judgement Against Pawcatuck Valley Street Railway Company.

It is understood that local granite manufacturers are inclined to concede to the Barre bill of prices, which places the minimum wage of scale for cutters at 49 cents an hour. An offer of this nature might possibly be made, but for fear that employees might further insist on settling the difference between that sum and the rate in the original request.

On the other hand, it is hinted that such a proposition would be acceptable to the union men, who do not expect to get all that is specified in the bill of prices, but believe it is up to the manufacturers to make a concession in the matter.

The stone cutters are not particularly desirous of pressing their case until after settlement is made with the quarrymen, as they could not work without the granite and that they could not receive unless the quarrymen continue their operations. It is therefore possible that special effort will be made to settle with the quarrymen before attempt is made to effect settlement with the cutters.

The West Mystic Boat motor was towed by the fire department to the Newport naval torpedo station in connection with the fire which destroyed the boat. The boat was a 1900 model and was in good condition when it was wrecked. It was used by the fire department for many years and was a valuable asset to the department. The damage was done to the front end of the boat and the engine. The boat was towed to the fire station and is being repaired. It is expected that it will be ready to use again in a few days.

Attorney Kingsley filed a motion Wednesday with the clerk of the supreme court of the state for an order of mandamus to the Pawcatuck Valley Street Railway company, against which damages of $1000 have been awarded George E. Champlin.

This is the case where Mr. Champlin was thrown from a wagon which, he alleged, was struck by a trolley car at Watch Hill, and received permanent injuries.

The Rhode Island Ones and the Alutics proceeded to the Briggs residence, but there was no need for the services of the firemen, as the fire was in the chimney and extinguished before it had communicated with the woodwork, which was accomplished before the arrival of the fire apparatus.

The department was called out Wednesday night for a chimney fire in a Pond street residence, the fire being extinguished with chemicals. Now that two fire alarms have been sent in short order, the brave volunteer fire ladders are on the qui vive for that third call which they are sure to come in the very near future.

The accident to the Cyclone chemical and hose wagon at the Main street road Wednesday morning is being used as an additional argument for the necessity of hurrying along the voted Capitol Chatter.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 15.—The reading of the deposition of Mrs. Lillian Ashley Turnbull, taken in Boston last week, took much of the time today in the case of Mrs. Lillian Ashley Turnbull, who is contesting for the "Lucky Baldwin" millions.

Mrs. Thompson deposed that she became acquainted with Lillian Ashley in the fall of 1901 through a newspaper advertisement inserted by the latter requesting the some couple adopt her. She said Miss Ashley afterward came to her home in Westchester, near Boston, and later helped in housework for which she was paid.

The witness said while Miss Ashley lived with her she never informed her that Col. Albert Pope had left her. She said Miss Ashley explained the possession of money, with which she took trips to the south, by saying that she got it from an "old man" who lived up the Hudson and who wanted to marry her.

She said Miss Ashley afterward came to her home in Westchester, near Boston, and later helped in housework for which she was paid.

The witness said while Miss Ashley lived with her she never informed her that Col. Albert Pope had left her. She said Miss Ashley explained the possession of money, with which she took trips to the south, by saying that she got it from an "old man" who lived up the Hudson and who wanted to marry her.

Temperance Vote Swept Tompkins County.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 15.—The temperance vote made a clean sweep in Tompkins county at the annual town meetings yesterday, every town going "dry" to the Ithaca city limits. The result will prevent liquor being sold at resorts around the head of Cayuga lake for a distance of ten miles.
